Guidance and Counselling

Sai B.Ed. & D.El.Ed. College Individual counseling is Counselling focused on the individual's immediate or near future concerns. Individual counselling may encompass career counselling and planning, grief after a loved one dies or dealing with problems at a job before they become big. Individual counselling is a one-on-one discussion between the counsellor and the client, who is the person seeking treatment. The two form an alliance, relationship or bond that enables trust and personal growth. Personal counselling is a process of self-discovery and growth. It can help increase self confidence, improve relationships, solve problems, achieve educational goals, and make good decisions for emotional, intellectual, physical, and spiritual well-being. In individual counselling, you and your counsellor meet one on one in a private, confidential and professional setting. The counselling relationship is safe, genuine, warm and accepting where your counsellor accepts you as you are without forming any judgments about you. The counsellor listens to you and tries to understand your life situation, helps you to explore your thoughts, feelings and emotions regarding your life situations. The counsellor would help you identify aspects of your life that you would like to change, help identify goals for yourself, enables you to manage your challenges better; work on improving yourself/your relationships and progress on the goals that you set for yourself. You may discuss different perspectives and approaches to the challenge at hand. You also explore and understand the emotional aspects of the situation and deal with them.

REPORT ON MENTORING SYSTEM OF THE INSTITUTION

Institution has a mentoring system which is useful to identify and cater to the needs of the students. Every student admitted in the college is assigned a mentor in the institution. The mentor mentee relationship begins from the day of assignment and continuous till the completion of the course. All the teachers of the institution serve as mentors. Each teacher is assigned a group of students for mentoring. The teachers are given the behaviour assessment forms of their mentees in order to understand them better and correct their behaviour. The mentors understand the differential needs of the mentees by interacting with them regularly and report it to the IQAC cell. This helps the institution to plan program and activities that can cater to their identified needs. Regular meetings are organized by the mentors with their mentees. Their progress in learning. Participating in institutional activities as

"anchor, discussant" or 'rapporteur –

09/02/2023

As the development of the well-rounded individual is a principal goal of all the curricular as well as extracurricular activities in the college. The numerous experiences these activities afford positively impact students emotional, intellectual, social, and inter-personal development. By working together with other individuals, students learn to negotiate, communicate, manage conflict, and lead others. Taking active part in these activities helps students to understand the importance of critical thinking skill, time management and academic and intellectual competence. Students also develop leadership skills where they anchor the activities and lead the event organised in the institution. Almost all the events held in the college are compered/anchor by the students. Events organised by the students are guided by the faculty/mentors. Thus, students learn to plan, organise and conduct events at institutional, inter-institutional levels.

CLASSROOM TEACHING LEARNING SITUATIONS ALONG WITH TEACHER AND PEER FEEDBACK – 07/01/2019

The knowledge, advice, and resources a teacher faculty mentor shares depend on the format and goals of a specific mentoring relationship. A faculty shares with a mentee information about his or her own career path, as well as provide guidance, motivation, emotional support, and role modelling. The faculty also help the students with exploring careers, setting goals, developing contacts, and identifying resources. The role of the mentor changes as the needs of the mentee change. Some mentoring relationships are part of structured programs that have specific expectations and guidelines others are more informal. Methodology lecturers guide the students in classroom activities through formative assessments as well as summative. They give feedback to the teacher trainees in enhancing their skills whereby the re-teach present refined skills.

As the development of the well-rounded individual is a principal goal of all the curricular as well as extracurricular activities in the college. The numerous experiences these activities afford positively impact students emotional, intellectual, social, and inter-personal development. By working together with other individuals, students learn to negotiate, communicate, manage conflict, and lead others. Taking active part in these activities helps students to understand the importance of critical thinking skill, time management and academic and intellectual competence. Students also develop leadership skills where they anchor the activities and lead the event organised in the institution. Almost all the events held in the college are compered/anchor by the students. Events organised by the students are guided by the faculty/mentors. Thus, students learn to plan, organise and conduct events at institutional, inter-institutional levels.

CLASSROOM TEACHING LEARNING SITUATIONS ALONG WITH TEACHER AND PEER FEEDBACK – 07/01/2019

The knowledge, advice, and resources a teacher faculty mentor shares depend on the format and goals of a specific mentoring relationship. A faculty shares with a mentee information about his or her own career path, as well as provide guidance, motivation, emotional support, and role modelling. The faculty also help the students with exploring careers, setting goals, developing contacts, and identifying resources. The role of the mentor changes as the needs of the mentee change. Some mentoring relationships are part of structured programs that have specific expectations and guidelines others are more informal. Methodology lecturers guide the students in classroom activities through formative assessments as well as summative. They give feedback to the teacher trainees in enhancing their skills whereby the re-teach present refined skills.
